Metacarpal metastases from bronchial adenoid cystic carcinoma are rare. We report one such case in a 45-year-old man. Following an open biopsy for suspected lung cancer, he was referred to our department because of a 5-cm mass on the left fourth metacarpal and a painless non-tender nodule on the left upper lobe. Histologically, the lesion was confirmed as metastatic lung cancer. The patient underwent excision of the metastatic lesion. Metastases are rare, and most of them are secondary to lung cancer. In this case, the diagnosis was established after a biopsy. The symptoms of a pulmonary lesion preceded those of the metacarpal metastasis. As a close associate of convicted billionaire pedophile Jeffrey Epstein, Ghislaine Maxwell, who is often referred to as Epstein's "madame," continued to operate her own network of friends and associates who allegedly abused young girls in a way that would make former presidential candidate Roy Moore, or anyone who defended President Donald Trump, blush. Among them was former lawyer of Epstein and Maxwell, Alan Dershowitz, who has a long history of pedophilia-related problems, and has been sued by multiple victims of sexual abuse. He recently announced that he would be representing a New York woman who claims that Epstein sexually abused her as a child. So who is the woman? Well, it's a woman who was reportedly on Epstein's private island, where he is alleged to have abused his victims. As reported by the Daily Beast, "According to a civil complaint filed in Federal Court in Florida, Epstein repeatedly preyed on at least one of the young women who visited his private 'pedophile island' during the early 2000s, as well as one of his alleged madam-in-law Ghislaine Maxwell's friends."
